

Electronic publication of master's theses in MF Open

Students submitting a master's thesis at MF Norwegian School of Theology, Religion and Society must fill out a mandatory academic integrity form before the final submission. In the form the author is asked to consent to online publication of the master's thesis in MF's open archive MF Open. If the author accepts online publication, MF receives the right to publish the thesis free of charge in MF Open. MF will publish the thesis if it meets the grading requirement (C or better).

Consenting to online publication does not prevent the author to publish an identical or revised version of the master's thesis in other ways or places than MF Open.

By accepting online publication, the author confirms that he or she has copyright to the thesis, including material like pictures/illustrations, or that the author has confirmation from the licensees to use the material in the publication in MF Open.

The published version of the master's thesis will be identical to the version the author has submitted, but may be adjusted to make online publication possible. The thesis will be available in MF Open as long as MF runs an institutional archive. MF is allowed to adjust the design of the thesis for use in newer versions of software. MF is also allowed to convert it to other formats in order to preserve the document (without changing the content). MF can not use the master's thesis for financial gain.

The thesis can be referred to, linked to, quoted from, printed out and downloaded, within the perimeters of "Lov om opphavsrett til åndsverk m.v." (Norwegian copyright law).

If the author declines online publication, the thesis will only be available for loan on paper in the MF library.
